Since 1991 Bridging the Gaps has been providing community service, promoting public health in underserved communities, and training community-responsive health and social service professionals.
We are proud to share the Bridging the Gaps 2016 annual report. As we celebrate our 26th year, we are ever grateful to the many people who have strengthened and enriched the program through their involvement and to those who continue to sustain our work. BTG Program Components

BTG Community Health Internship Program [BTG CHIP] (in all locations):
BTG CHIP is a summer internship that matches students with community agencies/organizations, taking into account community site needs, professional disciplines and student interests. Whenever possible, students work in interprofessional teams.

In addition to their community-based work, students participate in didactic sessions where community members and health professionals help students gain the skills and knowledge to be effective providers for vulnerable populations.

In the fall, BTG hosts an Annual Symposium in Philadelphia. It provides students with an opportunity to present their summer projects in poster format and to discuss community health issues with community representatives, public health officials, agency personnel, grantmakers, and university faculty and staff. All programs are represented at the Philadelphia symposium and, in addition, other program locations host their own local symposia.

BTG Seminar Series (Philadelphia only):
An eight-part series held in the spring, winter and fall that highlights specific topics focused largely on vulnerable populations.

BTG Clinical Program (Philadelphia only):
An advanced community clinical experience that offers students a collaborative interdisciplinary approach to health and health care delivery for vulnerable populations.

BTG Clinical Scholars Program (Philadelphia only): Students who complete the BTG CHIP, Seminar Series and Clinical Program graduate as BTG Clinical Scholars.

BTG CHIP 2016 at a Glance

Students/Projects/Sites: 210 students worked on 105 projects at 104 sites.

Professional Disciplines: Medicine, dental medicine, nursing, occupational therapy, public health, social work, psychology, creative arts in therapy, physician assistant, pharmacy, law, veterinary medicine.

Service Days: Students provided 5,540 days of health-related service.

Other Program Components (Philadelphia only)

- BTG Seminar Series: 203 students attended at least one seminar.
- BTG Clinical Program: 13 students participated in the BTG Clinical Program.
- BTG Clinical Scholars: 9 students graduated as Clinical Scholars.

---

The 26th Anniversary Symposium

André Robert Lee received the 2016 BTG Award and presented the keynote address. A producer and director who has worked with top networks and Hollywood studios, Lee’s filmography includes the documentaries "I’m Not Racist … Am I?" (2014) and "The Prep School Negro" (2012). In 2013 he received a fellowship to direct and produce the series "Life Cycles of Inequity: A Colorlines Series on Black Men."

I leave with a greater understanding of what it means not only to be a nurse, but also how to be a better teammate and advocate for patients. I must consider the sociocultural factors influencing health … I must consider all the things that contribute to [a patient’s] current state of wellness.

Valerie Bai
University of Pennsylvania
School of Nursing

I am so grateful for BTG and the experience that I’ve had this summer. It was awesome to get to work with experts in so many health care disciplines. I now see the necessity for this kind of interdisciplinary teamwork in order to provide the highest quality of care.

Jin Hwang
University of Pennsylvania

Bridging the Gaps … allowed me to explore a new place and a new group of people that have come to change my thinking. … Before my internship at BTG, I had never really talked to a homeless person, besides simple greetings on the street. Yet this summer I … got to sit down with the homeless and the drug users and hear their stories.

BTG has been a very beneficial experience for both me, as the preceptor, and the students. The students are able to bring their academic knowledge and use it in a practical manner within the communities we serve. It has been rewarding to see them grow, learn and mature to the point where [they] are managing programs and see the fruit of their labor.

I have come to appreciate that … there can be no one solution for building communities or promoting health; rather, responses must be as varied and comprehensive as the issues they address—and must truly engage individuals within communities to be effective.
