Penn Gastroenterology’s Interventional and Advanced Endoscopy program provides world-class care for the treatment of pancreaticobiliary diseases and neoplasia of the digestive tract. Penn physicians have pioneered endoscopic procedures and techniques to provide optimal outcomes with an emphasis on patient safety. Endoscopic procedures offered include:

- Endoscopic Retrograde Cholangiopancreatography (ERCP)
- Endoscopic ultrasound (EUS)
- Endoluminal stenting
- Endoscopic resection of superficial neoplasia, including large colon polyps
- Ablation of Barrett’s esophagus
- Intramural endoscopy, including per-oral endoscopic myotomy (POEM)
- Endoscopic drainage of peri-pancreatic fluid collections and cyst-gastrostomy
- Developmental endoscopy
