Herpesvirus: Pathogenesis & Cancer Symposium
Friday, June 1, 2018 8:00 AM – 4:45 PM
Followed by a Reception 4:45 – 6:00 PM
Biomedical Research Building Gaulton Auditorium Lobby, University of Pennsylvania

Edward S Mocarski, Ph.D., Robert W. Woodruff Professor, Professor of Microbiology and Immunology, Emory School of Medicine
Gertrude and Werner Henle Lectureship Keynote Speaker
“Alternative Cell Death Pathways in Antiviral Host Defense”

Program Highlights

Sita Awasthi, Ph.D., Research Associate Professor Of Medicine, University of Pennsylvania
“An mRNA based trivalent genital herpes vaccine: Sterilizing immunity as a real possibility”

Gary H. Cohen, Ph.D., Professor Department of Microbiology, University of Pennsylvania
“An approach to antigenically “stealth” oncolytic herpes simplex viruses to the human immune system”

Elizabeth White Ph.D., Assistant Professor Of Otorhinolaryngology: Head And Neck Surgery, University of Pennsylvania
“High-risk HPV E7 degrades the tumor suppressor PTPN14 to limit keratinocyte differentiation”