

Newsletter February 2023

Dear PISCE@LDI Community,

We are thrilled so many of you were able to join us last week for Dr. Rosaura Orenco-Aguayo's presentation "When Disasters are the Norm, Not the Exception: Implementation of Trauma Focused Interventions in Puerto Rico". If you were not able to join us, you can view the video here.

Stay tuned for an email about several exciting upcoming events including a fireside chat on conducting equity-oriented work with a panel of Penn/CHOP faculty and an invited lecture on community engagement in research.

Be well,
The PISCE@LDI Leadership Team

Courses and Institutes

HPR 6210 (Penn): Advanced Topics in Implementation Science in Health — Summer 2023

Dates: Thursdays from 12-2:50pm, Summer Term II, 2023

Location: Online

This seminar course offers an opportunity for students to advance their understanding of the thorniest methodological challenges in implementation science. Broadly, topics include study design, study execution, and tensions in the field. The intention will be for attendees to directly apply their learnings to their ongoing or proposed implementation research. This half-credit course is intended for those who have already been exposed to the foundational content of implementation science. This can be achieved via HPR 6110, the Penn Implementation Science Institute, or other training opportunities (such as the NIH TIDIRH/TIDIRC or mentored K awards). Prerequisites: Must obtain permission by instructor. This course is part of the IS certificate curriculum.

Admission is open to ALL. Penn tuition rates will apply for those who are not affiliated with Penn.

Course Directors: Meghan Lane-Fall, MD, MSHP, FCCM
