Your class schedule is available on OASIS

1. Log in as a PennKey User using two-step verification: https://www.isc.upenn.edu/two-step-verification.

2. Click "Enter 2021"

3. Use the double arrow keys or the calendar to navigate to the week you want to view. As long as "show my events" is clocked on the lower right side, only (and all of) your events will appear.

4. Tap into or hover over an event to see the title, instructor, and location. Some lectures are in LAW, some are in Reunion. You can get to Reunion by entering the Johnson Pavilion and turning right toward the John Morgan building, then taking the first left to the end of the hallway.

5. If an event is listed as "Lecture," the session can be viewed in person and/or online. If an event is listed as "Lab," "Clinical Encounter," or "Small Group" the session must be attended. Details about how attendance is taken can be found on the next page. It's important to arrive on time and sign in when you arrive.

6. The very first lecture is an Intro to Module 1, 8AM on 8/19 in Law. You will hear much more about your first semester then. On a general and logistical level, however, 1st semester students takethree modules, 1, 3, and 6. Mod 1 is generally in the morning and consists of several courses, starting with Biochemistry, Genetics, Cell and Tissue Biology, and Embryology. Mod 3 consistsof 2 courses in the first semester, but continues into the rest of the preclinical curriculum. Module 6, which runs throughout medical school, begins with Doctoring 1A in thefirst semester. Mods 6 and 3 generally run in the afternoons.

7. The Student Portal is your link to information about the Curriculum. Here you will find links to Canvas,requests for absence, attendance policy, and a link to OASIS.

8. An important note about your schedule: although we make every effort to present the schedule as accurately as possible, situations sometimes arise and times have to be changed. It's really important to check the OASIS site at least once a week for the following week to makesure you know where you are supposed to be. OASIS has the ability to push to both Canvas and to mobile devices, but we've found that sometimes these pushes don't reflect last minute changes. Please plan to check the website itself.
